PLAINTIFFS' ORIGINAL COMPLAINT

Plaintiffs Group 1 Automotive, Inc. as Assignee on Behalf of Group 1 Automotive Wholly-owned Subsidiary Dealerships, Asbury Automotive Group, Inc. as Assignee on Behalf of Asbury Automotive Wholly-owned Subsidiary Dealerships, Van Tuyl Group, LLC as Assignee on Behalf of Assignor Dealerships, and Major Automotive Companies, Inc. as Assignee on Behalf of Major Automotive Wholly-owned Subsidiary Dealerships, Bronx Ford, Inc., and City World Motors, LLC (collectively, “Plaintiffs”) file this Original Complaint (the “Complaint”), on behalf of themselves, against Tenneco Inc., Tenneco GmbH, Tenneco Automotive Operating Co., Inc. (collectively, “Tenneco”), and Eberspächer Exhaust Technology GmbH & Co. KG, Eberspächer North America Inc. (collectively, “Eberspächer”). Tenneco and Eberspächer are collectively referred to herein as “Defendants.” For their Complaint, Plaintiffs state as follows:

I. NATURE OF ACTION

1. The global conspiracy to fix the prices of various automotive parts in violation of multiple countries’ antitrust laws has resulted in the “biggest criminal antitrust investigation that [the Department of Justice has] ever encountered...with respect to the impact on U.S. business and consumers, and the number of companies and executives that are subject to the investigation.”¹ The United States alone has levied billions of dollars in fines and multiple companies and executives have pled guilty to various antitrust charges. Dozens of civil lawsuits have been filed as well, including several class actions from both direct purchaser and indirect purchasers of dozens of automotive parts. This action concerns the conspiracy to unlawfully fix the prices of Exhaust Systems and the substantial harm that conspiracy has caused Plaintiffs, who comprise some of the largest groups of automobile dealerships in the country.

2. Exhaust Systems are systems comprised of pipes and other parts that move exhaust gas away from passenger compartments and also reduce the level of pollutants and engine exhaust noise emitted. The Exhaust System in a vehicle may include parts such as the manifold, flex pipes, catalytic converter, oxygen sensor, isolator/gasket/clamps, resonator assemblies/pipe accessories, and muffler/muffler assemblies.

3. Exhaust Systems are essential components of modern automobiles. As explained further below, Defendants control a significant portion of the market and, therefore, were able to engage in a massive price-fixing conspiracy against the global automotive industry for over a decade. Defendants' conduct raised the prices of vehicles containing Exhaust Systems. The harm Defendants intentionally caused to Plaintiffs and others is substantial and constitutes an antitrust injury under both federal and state laws as set forth below.

4. Plaintiffs bring this action to recover for this harm for Exhaust Systems and/or vehicles containing Exhaust Systems purchased by Plaintiffs, manufactured by Defendants or any co-conspirator, during the period from January 1, 2002 to the present (the "Relevant Time Period").

II. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

5. This action arises under Section 16 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 26) for Defendants' violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1). Thus, this Court has subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 and 1337. Plaintiffs also assert various state law claims. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction over the state law claims in this action pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1332(a) and 1367 as Plaintiffs and Defendants are citizens of different states and the matter in controversy exceeds $75,000 exclusive of interests and costs.

6. Venue is proper in this district pursuant to Section 12 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. §22), and 28 U.S.C. §§1391 (b), (c), and (d), because a substantial part of the events giving rise to Plaintiffs' claims occurred in this district, a substantial portion of the affected interstate trade and commerce discussed below has been carried out in this district, and one or more of the Defendants reside, are licensed to do business in, are doing business in, had agents in, or are found or transact business in this district.

7. This Court has jurisdiction over each Defendant because each either directly or through the ownership and/or control of its United States subsidiaries: (a) transacted business in the United States, including in this district; (b) directly or indirectly sold or marketed substantial quantities of Exhaust Systems designed for vehicles to be sold throughout the United States, including in this district; (c) had substantial aggregate contacts with the United States as a whole, including in this district; (d) colluded with conspirators who engaged in conspiratorial conduct in the United States, including in this district; and/or (e) was engaged in an illegal price-fixing conspiracy that was directed at, and had a direct, substantial, reasonably foreseeable and intended effect of causing injury to, the business or property of persons and entities residing in, located in, or doing business throughout the United States. Defendants also conduct business throughout the United States, including in this district, and they have purposefully availed themselves of the laws of the United States and this district.

8. Defendants engaged in conduct both inside and outside of the United States that caused direct, substantial, reasonably foreseeable and intended anti-competitive effects upon interstate commerce within the United States, and upon import trade and commerce within the United States.

9. The activities of Defendants and their co-conspirators were within the flow of, were intended to, and did have, a substantial effect on interstate commerce of the United States. Defendants' products are sold in the flow of interstate commerce.

10. Exhaust Systems manufactured abroad by Defendants and sold for use in automobiles either manufactured in the United States or manufactured abroad and sold in the United States are goods brought into the United States for sale, and therefore constitute import commerce. To the extent any Exhaust Systems are purchased in the United States, and such Exhaust Systems do not constitute import commerce, Defendants' unlawful activities with respect thereto, as more fully alleged herein, had, and continue to have, a direct, substantial and reasonably foreseeable effect on United States commerce. The anticompetitive conduct, and its effect on United States commerce described herein, proximately caused antitrust injury to Plaintiffs in the United States.

11. By reason of the unlawful activities alleged herein, Defendants substantially affected commerce throughout the United States, causing injury to Plaintiffs. Defendants, directly and through their agents, engaged in activities affecting all states, to fix or inflate prices of Exhaust Systems, and that conspiracy unreasonably restrained trade and adversely affected the market for Exhaust Systems.

12. Defendants' conspiracy and wrongdoing injured Plaintiffs who indirectly purchased Exhaust Systems and vehicles containing Exhaust Systems.

IV. PROCEDURAL HISTORY

30. In the wake of the DOJ's investigations and criminal convictions described herein, automobile dealers, buyers, and others began filing class action lawsuits against automotive parts manufacturers, including Defendants, in United States district courts across the country on behalf of direct and indirect purchasers of various automobile parts.

31. In February 2012, the Panel on Multidistrict Litigation consolidated the existing actions in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan, styled In re: Automotive Parts Antitrust Litigation, 2:12-md-02311. Since the beginning of the MDL, numerous additional suits alleging price fixing on automobile parts, including Exhaust Systems, have been combined.

32. In May 2016, the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan gave final approval for settlements with certain defendants (“First Group” settlements) providing benefits to eligible automobile dealers related to the massive antitrust conspiracy to fix the prices of automotive parts. Plaintiffs did not opt-out of the First Group.

33. On November 27, 2017, the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan preliminarily approved the proposed settlement of claims of eligible automobile dealerships for automotive parts, including Exhaust Systems, against certain defendants (“Third Group” settlements). See Exhibit E.

34. On September 17, 2018, the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan preliminarily approved the proposed settlement of claims of eligible automobile dealerships for automotive parts, including Exhaust Systems, against certain other defendants (“Fourth Group” settlements). See Exhibit F.

35. Pursuant to Rule 23, the Court ordered the parties in the class action to provide notice to the absent class members advising them of, among other things, their right to opt-out of any of the proposed settlements

36. Plaintiffs properly exercised their right to opt out from the settlements related to multiple automotive parts in the Second, Third and Fourth Groups, including Exhaust Systems, prior to the opt-out deadline provided in the notice.

37. As set forth herein, Defendants engaged in a massive, anti-competitive conspiracy to raise the prices of Exhaust Systems above competitive levels. As a result, Plaintiffs, who are automobile dealers, paid supra-competitive prices for Exhaust Systems and/or vehicles containing Exhaust Systems. Defendants have caused Plaintiffs substantial antitrust injuries to their business and property. As such, Plaintiffs now bring this action for damages, injunctive relief, and other relief pursuant to federal antitrust laws and state antitrust, unfair competition, unjust enrichment and consumer protection laws, and demand a trial by jury.

V. FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

a. The Exhaust Systems Market

38. Defendants manufacture, market, and sell automotive parts including, relevant to this lawsuit, Exhaust Systems. Exhaust Systems are systems comprised of pipes and other parts that move exhaust gas away from passenger compartments and also reduce the level of pollutants and engine exhaust noise emitted. The Exhaust System in a vehicle may include parts such as the manifold, flex pipes, catalytic converter, oxygen sensor, isolator/gasket/clamps, resonator assemblies/pipe accessories, and muffler/muffler assemblies.

39. Exhaust Systems are installed both as original equipment from an automobile manufacturer (“OEM”) and also as replacement parts when the systems become defective or damaged. For new automobiles, OEMs purchase Exhaust Systems from parts suppliers such as Defendants. OEMs may also purchase Exhaust Systems from component manufacturers referred to as “Tier 1 manufacturers”. Defendants supplied Exhaust Systems directly to OEMs.

40. OEMs and Tier 1 manufacturers purchase parts for U.S.-manufactured vehicles in Japan, the United States, and elsewhere. Before production of a new automobile model begins, OEMs and Tier 1 manufacturers issue Requests for Quotation (“RFQs”) to automotive parts suppliers for model-specific parts (such as Exhaust Systems) for that model of automobile. In response, automobile parts suppliers submit bids to the OEMs and Tier 1 manufacturers. The OEMs or Tier 1 manufacturers then select a supplier based on its bid. Generally, a supplier of a model-specific part is selected for the lifespan of that automobile model.

41. OEMs in turn supply Exhaust Systems to automobile dealerships, including Plaintiffs. Plaintiffs indirectly purchase Exhaust Systems from Defendants by, for example, purchasing or leasing a new vehicle containing Exhaust Systems.

b. Defendants' Conspiracy and Anti-Competitive Conduct

42. Defendants colluded and conspired with their co-conspirators to fix the prices of Exhaust Systems above competitive levels. Where competitors have conspired to fix prices and hinder competition, prices remain the same or even increase despite the competitors' costs remaining steady or even decreasing. That is what happened with Exhaust Systems.

43. Defendants and their co-conspirators entered into and engaged in a combination and conspiracy to suppress and restrain competition by: (a) agreeing to allocate and rig bids and RFQ responses on Exhaust Systems; (b) allocating and rigging such bids; and (c) submitting rigged and non-competitive bids and RFQ responses for the sale of Exhaust Systems installed in vehicles produced by OEMs and sold in the United States and elsewhere.

44. The nature of the Exhaust Systems market in the United States is conducive to a price-fixing agreement, and has made collusion particularly attractive in this market. Specifically, the Exhaust Systems market: (1) has high barriers to entry and (2) has inelasticity of demand.

45. Where a group has entered into a conspiracy to raise prices above competitive levels for a particular market, new companies would seemingly use that as an opportunity to enter that market with more competitive pricing. This is less likely to occur where there are significant barriers to entering the market at issue.

46. Significant barriers to entry exist in the Exhaust Systems. First, a new company would face high start-up costs, including millions of dollar costs related to manufacturing plants, equipment, energy, transportation, distribution infrastructure, and customer relationships.

47. Additionally, there are regulatory standards relating to Exhaust Systems.

Compliance with these standards requires knowledge of the industry and significant engineering expertise, and therefore presents another barrier to entry.

48. Additionally, Defendants own several patents related to Exhaust Systems. These patents place a significant and costly burden on potential new entrants, who must avoid infringing the patents when entering the markets with a new product.

49. Finally, OEMs cannot freely swap out one Exhaust Systems supplier for another. Exhaust Systems and vehicles are designed to integrate with one another. An OEM designs a vehicle such that Exhaust Systems purchased for that vehicle integrate with the other components of that particular model. It would be difficult for a new entrant to enter the market after a vehicle has been specifically designed to integrate with particular Exhaust Systems. This contributes to the high barrier to entering the Exhaust Systems market.

50. Regarding inelasticity of demand, there is inelasticity of demand for Exhaust Systems. “Elasticity is a measure of a variable’s sensitivity to a change in another variable.”² Price elasticity of demand is “a measure of the relationship between a change in the quantity demanded of a particular good and a change in its price.”³ “If a small change in price is accompanied by a large change in quantity demanded, the produce is said to be elastic (or responsive to price changes). Conversely, a product is inelastic if a large change in price is accompanied by a small amount of change in quantity demanded.”⁴ Customers who have no cheaper alternative for a product with inelastic demand are forced to continue to purchase the product at higher prices. Thus, inelastic demand in a market facilitates conspiring by allowing producers to raise their prices without fear of losing sales to other substitute products (or customers not buying the product at all).

³ <http://www.investopedia.com/terms/p/priceelasticity.asp>

51. Demand for Exhaust Systems is highly inelastic. No close substitute products exist. Exhaust Systems are an essential part of every vehicle and must be purchased even if prices are raised.

c. Government Investigations

52. As discussed above, government investigations into the rampant automotive parts industry antitrust conspiracies are well documented. The DOJ continues to investigate the “price fixing, bid rigging and other anticompetitive conduct in the automotive parts industry...A total of 65 individuals and 47 companies have been charged in the Antitrust Division’s investigations into the automotive parts industry.”⁵ The DOJ has described the investigation as the largest criminal investigation it has ever undertaken. The DOJ has thus far fined companies over $2.9 billion related to this investigation and sentenced dozens to jail terms.⁶

53. The DOJ’s investigation into illegal bid rigging and price fixing in the automotive parts industry began as a part of a global effort including the European Union and Japan. In February 2010 and in June 2010, the European Commission (“EC”) conducted raids on the offices of several defendants. Also in February 2010, Japan’s Fair Trade Commission (“JFTC”) raided the Tokyo offices of Furukawa Electric, Sumitomo Electric, and Yazaki Corporation, seeking evidence of collusion in the industry. Finally, FBI investigators raided three Detroit-area Japanese auto parts makers as part of a federal antitrust investigation.

54. To date, the DOJ’s criminal investigation of illegal price fixing and bid rigging in the automotive parts industry has likewise resulted in the filing of criminal charges against numerous automotive parts manufacturers. Criminal investigations related specifically to Exhaust systems include:

- a. Investigations by the European Commission in 2014 into Tenneco, Faurecia and Eberspächer's facilities and conduct with respect to Exhaust Systems price manipulation and bid rigging.
- b. That same year, Tenneco announced that it had received a subpoena from the ODJ regarding antitrust allegations and that it entered into an agreement with the DOJ for leniency in exchange for cooperation with the investigation and self-reporting antitrust violations.

55. Dozens of additional companies and individuals have plead guilty to price fixing in the broader automotive parts industry as a result of the DOJ's investigations, including:

- a. On March 1, 2012, Yazaki Corporation plead guilty to three counts of Conspiracy to Restrain Trade and agreed to pay a criminal fine of $470 million for conspiring to rig bids and fix prices of automotive wire harnesses, instrument panel clusters, and fuel senders.

VI. COMPETITIVE INJURY

57. Defendants' conspiracy has harmed each Plaintiff. The cost of vehicles containing Exhaust Systems are supra-competitive because of Defendants' conduct. But for Defendants' conspiracy, automobile dealers, including Plaintiffs, would not have paid such supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices. Absent the supra-competitive prices, Plaintiffs would be able to gain the benefits of competition as to Exhaust Systems, which would reduce the prices to a competitive level. Instead, OEMs passed inflated prices from Defendants to Plaintiffs. Thus, Plaintiffs paid higher prices for vehicles containing Exhaust Systems than they otherwise would have paid absent Defendants' conspiracy and conduct.

58. Each Plaintiff absorbed a substantial portion of the overcharges that they paid due to Defendants' illegal activities. Plaintiffs did not pass on all overcharges caused by Defendants' illegal activities.

59. Exhaust Systems are identifiable, discrete physical products that remain essentially unchanged when incorporated into a vehicle. As a result, Exhaust Systems follow a traceable physical chain of distribution from Defendants to Plaintiffs, and any costs attributable to Exhaust Systems can be traced through the chain of distribution to Plaintiffs.

60. The market for Exhaust Systems and the market for automobiles are inextricably linked and intertwined because the market for Exhaust Systems exists to serve the automobile market. As antitrust scholars Professors Robert G. Harris (Professor Emeritus and former Chair of the Business and Public Policy Group at the Haas School of Business at the University of California at Berkeley) and the late Lawrence A. Sullivan (Professor of Law Emeritus at Southwestern Law School and author of the Handbook of the Law of Antitrust) have recognized, "in a multiple level chain of distribution, passing on monopoly overcharges is not the exception:

it is the rule.”⁷ Without the automobiles, the Exhaust Systems have little to no value. The demand for automobiles creates the demand for Exhaust Systems. Thus, the artificially inflated prices of Exhaust Systems in new automobiles as a result of Defendants’ conspiracy have been passed to the indirect-purchaser Plaintiffs.

61. Well-accepted economic models can quantify the specific overcharge impacting the prices of motor vehicles containing Exhaust Systems. For example, economists use “regression analysis” to isolate and understand the relationship between an “explanatory” variable and a “dependent” variable when numerous, changing variables exist. Using regression analysis, it is possible to isolate and identify the impact of an increase in the price of Exhaust Systems (explanatory variable) on prices for new motor vehicles (dependent variable) even though such products contain a number of other components whose prices may be changing over time. Thus, the precise amount of overcharge passed on to indirect purchasers as a result of Defendants’ unlawful conspiracy can be measured.

62. Defendants’ conspiracy restrained competition in the United States, including in all states that permit the recovery of damages by indirect purchasers, and had substantial effects on the commerce of the United States.

VII. DISCOVERY RULE AND FRAUDULENT CONCEALMENT

63. Plaintiffs had no knowledge of Defendants’ conduct and conspiracy, as alleged herein, and had no reason to know of such conduct until, at the earliest, the public announcement of Tenneco’s cooperation with the DOJ. Plaintiffs had no knowledge or reason to know of the existence of the conspiracy prior to that date. Plaintiffs are automobile dealers who had no direct contact or interaction with any of Defendants and no means to discover the conspiracy.

64. Defendants further took affirmative steps to conceal their misconduct. Defendants kept their agreements, understandings and conspiracies secret. A price-fixing conspiracy such as this one is, by its very nature, secretive.

65. Plaintiffs could not have discovered the alleged conspiracy and conduct at an earlier date by the exercise of reasonable diligence.

66. Thus, the discovery rule and Defendants' fraudulent concealment have tolled the running of any applicable statutes of limitations.

67. Any applicable statutes of limitations as to Plaintiffs have been further tolled by the pending class actions and other equitable tolling doctrines.

VIII. CLAIMS

a. Count 1 – Violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act

68. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

69. Defendants and unnamed conspirators entered into and engaged in a contract, combination or conspiracy in unreasonable restraint of trade in violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. §1).

70. The acts done by each of Defendants as part of, and in furtherance of, their contract, combination, or conspiracy were authorized, ordered, or done by their officers, agents, employees, or representatives while actively engaged in the management of Defendants' affairs.

71. At least as early as January 2002, and continuing through the present, the exact dates being unknown to Plaintiffs, Defendants and their co-conspirators entered into a continuing agreement, understanding and conspiracy in restraint of trade to rig bids for and to artificially fix, raise, stabilize and control prices for Exhaust Systems thereby creating anticompetitive effects.

72. The anti-competitive acts were intentionally directed at the United States market for Exhaust Systems and had a substantial and foreseeable effect on interstate commerce by raising and fixing prices for Exhaust Systems throughout the United States.

73. The conspiratorial acts and combinations have caused unreasonable restraints in the market for Exhaust Systems.

74. As a result of Defendants' and their co-conspirators' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs have been harmed by purchasing Exhaust Systems or vehicles containing Exhaust Systems manufactured by Defendants or their co-conspirators by being forced to pay inflated, supra-competitive prices for such products.

75. In formulating and carrying out the alleged agreement, understanding and conspiracy, Defendants and their co-conspirators did those things that they combined and conspired to do, including but not limited to the acts, practices, and courses of conduct set forth herein.

76. Defendants' conspiracy had the following effects, among others:

- a. Price competition in the market for Exhaust Systems has been restrained, suppressed and/or eliminated in the United States;
- b. Prices for Exhaust Systems sold by Defendants and their co-conspirators have been fixed, raised, maintained and stabilized at artificially high, noncompetitive levels throughout the United States; and
- c. Plaintiffs who purchased Exhaust Systems, or vehicles containing Exhaust Systems manufactured by Defendants and their co-conspirators have been deprived of the benefits of free and open competition and have been forced to pay artificially inflated prices for such products.

77. Plaintiffs have been injured and will continue to be injured in their business and property by paying more for Exhaust Systems or vehicles containing Exhaust Systems manufactured by Defendants and their co-conspirators than they would have paid and will pay in the absence of the conspiracy.

78. The alleged contract, combination, or conspiracy is a per se violation of the federal antitrust laws.

79. Plaintiffs are entitled to an injunction against Defendants, pursuant to 15 U.S.C. §26, preventing and restraining the violations alleged herein.

80. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

81. 83. In formulating and effectuating this conspiracy, Defendants and their co-conspirators performed acts in furtherance of the combination and conspiracy, including:

the purpose of carrying out their unlawful agreements to fix, maintain, decrease, or stabilize prices, to rig bids and to allocate customers with respect to Exhaust Systems.

85. The anti-competitive acts were intentionally directed at the market for Exhaust Systems in all states in which Plaintiffs do business allowing indirect purchasers to collect damages and had a substantial and foreseeable effect on intrastate commerce by raising and fixing prices for Exhaust Systems throughout those states.

86. Plaintiffs were deprived of free and open competition in all states, including all states in which Plaintiffs do business allowing indirect purchasers to collect damages, and Plaintiffs paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems in all states in which Plaintiffs do business allowing indirect purchasers to collect damages.

alleged herein, constituted a common, continuous, and continuing course of conduct of unfair competition by means of unfair, unlawful, and/or fraudulent business acts or practices within the meaning of California Business and Professions Code, Section 17200, et seq., including, but not limited to, the following: (1) the violations of Section 1 of the Sherman Act, as set forth above; (2) the violations of Section 16720, et seq., of the California Business and Professions Code, set forth above;

- e. Defendants' acts, omissions, misrepresentations, practices, and nondisclosures, as described above, whether or not in violation of Section 16720, et seq., of the California Business and Professions Code, and whether or not concerted or independent acts, are otherwise unfair, unconscionable, unlawful or fraudulent;
- f. Defendants' acts or practices are unfair to purchasers of Exhaust Systems (or vehicles containing them) in the State of California within the meaning of Section 17200, California Business and Professions Code; and
- g. Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Exhaust Systems price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout California; (2) Exhaust Systems prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout California; (3) Plaintiffs, including those who resided in California and/ or purchased Exhaust Systems or vehicles in California, were deprived of free and open competition, including in California; and (4) Plaintiffs, including those who resided in California and/or purchased Exhaust Systems or vehicles in California, paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems and vehicles containing Exhaust Systems, including in California.

- h. Defendants' acts and practices are fraudulent or deceptive within the meaning of Section 17200 of the California Business and Professions Code.
- i. Plaintiffs are entitled to full restitution and/or disgorgement of all revenues, earnings, profits, compensation, and benefits that may have been obtained by Defendants as a result of such business acts or practices.
- j. The illegal conduct alleged herein is continuing and there is no indication that Defendants will not continue such activity into the future.
- k. As alleged in this Complaint, Defendants and their co-conspirators have been unjustly enriched as a result of their wrongful conduct and by Defendants' unfair competition. Plaintiffs are accordingly entitled to equitable relief including restitution and/or disgorgement of all revenues, earnings, profits, compensation, and benefits that may have been obtained by Defendants as a result of such business practices, pursuant to the California Business and Professions Code, Sections 17203 and 17204.

110. The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the Florida Deceptive and Unfair Trade Practices Act, Fla. Stat. §§501.201, et seq.

- a. Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Exhaust Systems price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout Florida; (2) Exhaust Systems prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout Florida; (3) Plaintiffs were deprived of free and open petition; (4) Plaintiffs paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems.

- b. During the Relevant Time Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected Florida commerce and purchasers of Exhaust Systems and vehicles in Florida.
- c. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs have been injured and are threatened with further injury.
- d. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of Florida Stat. § 501.201, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs seek all relief available under that statute.

111. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the New Mexico Stat. § 57-12-1, et seq.

- a. Defendants and their co-conspirators agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining at noncompetitive and artificially inflated levels, the prices at which Exhaust Systems were sold, distributed or obtained in New Mexico and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs.
- b. Plaintiffs were not aware of Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy and were therefore unaware that they were being unfairly and illegally overcharged. There was a gross disparity of bargaining power between the parties with respect to the price charged by Defendants for Exhaust Systems. Defendants had the sole power to set that price and Plaintiffs had no power to negotiate a lower price. Moreover, Plaintiffs lacked any meaningful choice in purchasing Exhaust Systems because they were unaware of the unlawful overcharge and because they had to purchase Exhaust Systems in order to be able to operate their vehicles. Defendants' conduct with regard to sales of Exhaust Systems, including their illegal conspiracy to secretly fix the price of Exhaust Systems at supra-competitive levels and overcharge consumers, was substantively unconscionable because it was one-sided and unfairly benefited Defendants at the expense of Plaintiffs and the public. Defendants took grossly unfair advantage of Plaintiffs.

- c. The aforementioned conduct on the part of Defendants constituted "unconscionable trade practices," in violation of N.M.S.A. Stat. § 57-12-3, in that such conduct, inter alia, resulted in a gross disparity between the value received by Plaintiffs and the prices paid by them for Exhaust Systems as set forth in N.M.S.A., § 57-12-2E, due to the inflated prices paid by Plaintiffs for vehicles and Exhaust Systems.
- d. Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Exhaust Systems price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout New Mexico; (2) Exhaust Systems prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout New Mexico; (3) Plaintiffs were deprived of free and open competition; and (4) Plaintiffs paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems and vehicles containing Exhaust Systems.
- e. During the Relevant Time Period, Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected New Mexico commerce and consumers.

- f. As a direct and proximate result of the unlawful conduct of Defendants, Plaintiffs have been injured and are threatened with further injury.
- g. Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of New Mexico Stat. § 57-12-1, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs seek all relief available under that statute.

112. The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349, et seq.

- a. The Defendants and their co-conspirators agree to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Exhaust Systems were sold, distributed or obtained in New York and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs.
- b. Defendants deceptively led purchasers, such as Plaintiffs, to believe that the Exhaust Systems they had purchased as replacements and inside vehicles had been sold at legal competitive prices, when they had in fact been sold at collusively obtained inflated prices, that were passed on to them.
- c. The conduct of the Defendants described herein constitutes consumer oriented deceptive acts or practices within the meaning of N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349, which resulted in injuries to purchasers and broad adverse impact on the public at large, and harmed the public interest of New York State in an honest marketplace in which economic activity is conducted in a competitive manner.
- d. The Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Exhaust Systems price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout New York; (2) Exhaust Systems prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout New York; (3) Plaintiffs, including those who resided in New York and/or purchased Exhaust Systems or vehicles in New York, were deprived of free and open competition, including in New York; and (4) Plaintiffs, including those who resided in New York and/or purchased Exhaust Systems or vehicles in New York, paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems, including in New York.

- e. Because of Defendants' unlawful trade practices in the State of New York, New York purchasers who indirectly purchased Exhaust Systems were misled to believe that they were paying a fair price for Exhaust Systems or the price increases for Exhaust Systems were for valid business reasons; and similarly situated purchasers were affected by Defendants' conspiracy.
- f. During the Relevant Time Period, the Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected New York commerce and New York purchasers.
- g. During the Relevant Time Period, the Defendants directly, or indirectly and through affiliates they dominated and controlled, manufactured, sold and/or distributed Exhaust Systems in New York.
- h. Defendants knew that their unlawful trade practices with respect to pricing Exhaust Systems would have a broad impact, causing Plaintiffs who indirectly purchased Exhaust Systems to be injured by paying more for Exhaust Systems than they would have paid in the absence of Defendants' unlawful trade acts and practices.

- i. Plaintiffs seek all relief available pursuant to N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 349 (h).

113. The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of North Carolina Gen. Stat. § 75-1.1, et seq.

- a. The Defendants and their co-conspirators agreed to, and did in fact, act in restraint of trade or commerce by affecting, fixing, controlling and/or maintaining, at artificial and non-competitive levels, the prices at which Exhaust Systems were sold, distributed or obtained in North Carolina and took efforts to conceal their agreements from Plaintiffs.
- b. The conduct of the Defendants described herein constitutes consumer oriented deceptive acts or practices within the meaning of North Carolina law, which resulted in injury to purchasers and broad adverse impact on the public at large, and harmed the public interest of North Carolina purchasers in an honest marketplace in which economic activity is conducted in a competitive manner.
- c. The Defendants' unlawful conduct had the following effects: (1) Exhaust Systems price competition was restrained, suppressed, and eliminated throughout North Carolina; (2) Exhaust Systems prices were raised, fixed, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high levels throughout North Carolina; (3) Plaintiffs, including those who resided in North Carolina and/or purchased Exhaust Systems or vehicles in North Carolina were deprived of free and open competition, including in North Carolina; and (4) Plaintiffs, including those who resided in North Carolina and/or purchased Exhaust Systems or vehicles in North Carolina, paid supra-competitive, artificially inflated prices for Exhaust Systems, including in North Carolina.

- d. During the Relevant Time Period, the Defendants' illegal conduct substantially affected North Carolina commerce and purchasers in North Carolina.
- e. Defendants deceptively concealed their unlawful activities by conducting meetings and conversations in secret.
- f. During the Relevant Time Period, the Defendants directly, or indirectly and through affiliates they dominated and controlled, manufactured, sold and/or distributed Exhaust Systems in North Carolina.
- g. Plaintiffs seek actual damages for their injuries caused by these violations in an amount to be determined at trial and are threatened with further injury. The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair or deceptive acts or practices in violation of North Carolina Gen. Stat. § 75-1.1, et seq., and, accordingly, Plaintiffs seek all relief available under that statute.

114. The Defendants have engaged in unfair competition or unfair, unconscionable, or deceptive acts or practices in violation of the South Carolina Unfair Trade Practices Act, S.C. Code Ann. §§ 39-5-10, et seq.

123. Defendants have benefited from their unlawful acts and it would be inequitable for Defendants to be permitted to retain any of the ill-gotten gains resulting from the overpayments made by Plaintiffs for Exhaust Systems.

124. Plaintiffs are entitled to the amount of Defendants' ill-gotten gains resulting from their unlawful, unjust, and inequitable conduct.

125. Pursuit of any remedies against the OEMs from whom Plaintiffs purchased vehicles containing Exhaust Systems would have been futile, given that those OEMs did not take part in Defendants' conspiracy.
